Q LEGO® Builder

Meet the fan designer

LEGO® Ideas fan designer Nick Micheels (LEGO Ideas name LobsterThermidor) lives in Sacramento, California. By day, he works at a school. By night, he roams local musical theatres as a drummer/percussionist (though not, to our knowledge, as a vampire).

“This is the one place we don’t have to hide.”

– Edward Cullen, Twilight (2008)

Fan designer Nick with his original model

"Since emerging from my LEGO 'Dark Ages' a few years ago, LEGO building has become a fun and calming experience for myself and my family. It's a contagious hobby, and I hope to infect all my loved ones. I didn't discover The Twilight Saga as a teen, but by now I have watched the films to a point where I can almost recite every line! I thought it would be funny to translate these films and characters into LEGO form and infuse a little humour into it. The actual house used in the films is a stunning piece of architecture. The first floor is a major focal point, so I started with the first-floor facade. I studied the architecture of the film version and then planned my own interpretative blueprint. I thought of scenes from the films and knew I needed the staircase with room for the* graduation caps, a piano, Edward's room and the kitchen, so a lot of the design effort went into deciding how I could creatively squeeze all those scenes in. It took a few months to get it all done, and then it was pretty unreal to witness the project take off. The idea went live on February 3rd in the morning and reached 10,000 supporters by midday on the 4th. There was a huge and amazing community of supporters that I didn't even know was out there, sharing it everywhere on social media. There are so many amazing LEGO fan creators, and the entire LEGO Ideas process from fan design to promoting the final product is really inspiring. Thank you so much to everyone who shared and supported the idea!"

✦ A period that sometimes occurs after you stop playing with LEGO bricks as a child, before rediscovering your passion for building as an adult.*

“What did you expect? Coffins and dungeons and moats?”

– Edward Cullen, Twilight (2008)

Welcome to the Cullen House

From Twilight to The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn – Part 2, Isabella Marie Swan, Edward Cullen, Jacob Black and their families of vampires and wolf packs continue to captivate audiences across the world. Whether we're #TeamEdward or #TeamJacob (can't we just love them both equally?), we can at least agree on some of our favourite scenes and defining moments in the saga. The Cullen House plays host to Bella's first real encounter with the awe-inspiring vampire world, her wedding to Edward, her transition after the birth of their daughter, and fateful negotiations between international vampire covens and Jacob's wolf pack. Secluded from the world of mortals, its striking, timeless architecture offers serenity and privacy for the Cullen family and even a practical vantage point for leaping between treetops to enjoy the spectacular surrounding nature!

Home to the Cullens

The Cullen House, Original House Design by Skylab Architecture, has an almost ethereal quality about it in the way that it seems to float among the trees, seamlessly blending in with the forest where the family can hunt their prey. An extension of the characters themselves, the house represents a refreshing portrayal of modern vampires who have spent lifetimes perfecting strategies to exist in harmony with their surroundings, communities and even natural enemies. Entirely devoid of coffins, dungeons and moats, this stunning structure takes the classic tales of vampires into a new era.

Creative works of art

LEGO® Ideas sets are passion-driven creations – designed by fans, for fans. So, whether you're a fan of The Twilight Saga or LEGO building – or both, this set is skilfully crafted to be fun to build and inspiring to display. Hopefully, you will feel your creativity sparkle in the process! As you build your model, you can explore each floor and room and take time to make yourself feel at home here. Like its film version, you will discover that this house holds a lot of secrets. From Edward's Clair de Lune album and music sheet to the baseball bat collection and grand piano, this LEGO Ideas version of the Cullen House is packed with references to iconic scenes from the saga, inside and out.

“You better hold on tight, spider monkey.”

– Edward Cullen, Twilight (2008)

“Are those graduation caps?”

– Charlie Swan, The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn – Part 1 (2011)

Let's take you on a tour

With seven LEGO® minifigure characters, you can arrange your model to display your favourite scenes, or maybe recreate Bella's first tour of the house. After you finish building, each level can be removed to reveal all the rooms, accessories and functions inside.

From the ground floor entrance, you can access Carlisle's study or let Bella and Edward enjoy a quiet moment at the grand piano. Move upstairs to the living room and kitchen where the family is preparing a welcome meal fit for Bella.

Next, take the stairs past the graduation cap mural to Edward's sparsely furnished room to discuss music, vampires' sleep patterns (or rather the lack thereof) and, finally, top off your visit with a treetop view from the forest outside.

From the LEGO® Ideas Design Team

The first time we see the Cullen House in Twilight (2008), Bella has already met most of the intriguing family at her new school, but this visit is her first proper introduction. Our team enjoyed working on this model immensely, both as fans ourselves, and because the Cullen House is a beautiful example of modern residential architecture. Our goal was to capture both the signature references and the characteristic architecture seen mainly in the first film. LEGO® Ideas fan designer Nick Micheels' passion for The Twilight Saga shines through in his original submission and the final model. The angles are clean, the builds are satisfying to put together, it's full of fun details and it looks great! We even included a few tributes to Nick, and to the author of the Twilight book series, Stephenie Meyer.
